

UNITED REPUBLIC OF TANZANIA
ENGINEERS REGISTRATION BOARD

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS OF ENGINEERS AND CONSUMERS OF ENGINEERING CONSULTANCY SERVICES

Pursuant to Section 12A of the Engineers Registration Act No. 15 of 1997 and its amendments, it is a legal requirement for Engineers and Engineering Consulting Firms to possess Engineering Practising License. Since 2011 to date, the Board has been issuing Engineering Practising License to all practising engineers and Engineering Consulting Firms.

The Engineers Registration Board wishes to inform all Employers of Engineers and consumers of engineering consultancy service that they are required to demand a valid Engineering Practising License before employing engineers and/or Engineering Consulting Firms.

Consumers of Engineering Services (i.e. Clients and Employers) are required to note that Pursuant to Section 12A(3) of the Act, it is ILLEGAL to employ Engineers and/or Engineering Consulting Firms that do not possess valid Engineering Practising License.

The Sample Engineering Practising License is as shown below while the Names of Licensed Professional and Consulting Engineers uploaded in the PDF document in the website: -
